

Bell Technical Solutions Bargaining Update #5

April 25, 2022

Sisters and Brothers,

Your Bargaining Committee has been working diligently for several weeks now. Negotiations have continued this week in Toronto and we are committed to reaching an agreement on your behalf by May 6th, 2022 which is the expiration date of the current collective agreement. However, we will not rush to the finish line until your priorities are met.

That being said, we have made significant progress in key priority items identified not only at the bargaining caucus but also from our members over the course of this current collective agreement; including consecutive days of rest, status reclassifications for of our members and daily movement, among others.

We are working hard to reach a negotiated agreement and we will continue to demand an agreement which provides gains, amendments and changes that our members have earned and rightfully deserve.

Thank you for your continued support, it is of the utmost importance. Your committee will keep you informed of future developments.

In solidarity,

Ontario BTS Bargaining Committee
